

Critique Paper Third Quarter PT
Speech Title:	Grit: The Strongest Predictor of Success
Speaker:	Angela Duckworth
Summary of the Video:	the speaker started with her profession on how demanding job she wanted and in the end, she landed on the profession of teaching, where she found out the differences between her students who are smart and those who are not. She then conducted a study with people to determine what is the attitude that we need to become successful.
Speech Content: Introduction: (How did the speech start?) Body: (What were the main points?)	Introduction: The speech started with short introduction of her and tells a story about his past jobs. She get the attention and interest of all the audience. She discuss more about her job and students. And she realized that when students work hard and long enough they will easily understand the every subject in schools.

Conclusion: (How did the speech end?)	Body: The main point in the speech are all divided very neatly and is made to help the audience understand the topic better. The first point was that "IQ was not the only difference in my best and worst students." They had conducted a study on different people. People who have different environments and lifestyle choices. The 2nd point was that students could learn the material that they are struggling with if they worked long and hard enough. The next one greatly compliments the 2nd topic since it talks about how we should change our understanding in education and in educating the youth. Not only are our academic strategies out of date. It should also be improve with time. Next, There are people who are successful in some aspects and some not so. Grit is both in them. But it is just studied that successful people have more grit in their drive. She also discussed what grit is which is great so that the audience would be further more informed about this topic and can also share apply their learning. Conclusion: By the end of her main points, she summarized all her ideas and thoughts into a short paragraph, she also gave out solutions and
---	--

	tips on how to persevere and reach those dreams which is having passion on what you are doing, and to learn how to accept failure so that we can learn from them and we could start over again with lessons learned, with this you will strive brighter than before.
Delivery Skills and Techniques (What are the best/worst delivery skills/techniques of the speaker?)	The best technique of the speaker is speaking loud and clear. She is speaking fast but clear voice and no mispronounce words. Also She is very present with her audience. As you can see in the video the audience was very quiet when She was speaking and only had reactions, And that is also a good thing since that means that Her voice is clear and that She has caught the attention of the audience. Lastly, Natural movements of the speaker can be seen directly as she talks with no discomfort and has that ability to attract the audience attention.

Bias/Prejudice (Did the speaker show bias? Why? Why not?)	This video is recommendable to my fellow students, first of all, the contents contain learning that are filled with facts and pieces of evidence that provide the speaker the base proof of what she is discussing and what her point is all about. This video benefits students in a great way, the speaker talks about the intelligence quotient (IQ) of a person directly that the audience understands. Students use speeches at different events, this video can be used as an example for the right speeches. Her way of speaking attracts the audience's attention the moment she opens her mouth and she doesn't avoid the topic that she is discussing. Lastly, it is because she is a good speaker and has a lot of sense. The speaker did not show any bias when talking about the two sides of the IQ of smart people and those who are not. Neither party did she have a favorable opinion that can be said as biased, she investigated both sides and made the speech based on her evidence, which is fair and balanced.
Ted Talk Review	When the speaker talks about the students who have different IQ's she discussed them as a whole as she explains grit which is

(Would you recommend this video to fellow students? Explain.)	the focus of her whole speech as the speaker told her audience what it is. She didn't mention these students differently as she explains what both parties lack and advantage from each other so it can't be said that the speaker showed biased.
--	--